Bachelors of Engineering in Software Engineering (BE SE)

Program Description

Software Engineering is the practice of designing and implementing large, reliable, efficient and economical software by applying the principles and practices of engineering. This aim of the Bachelors in Software Engineering degree is to produce well, rounded software engineers who can fulfill the demand for software researchers, academic and developers in Pakistan. While the study of software engineering has a lot in common with computer science, software engineers learn much more about creating high-quality software in a systematic, controlled, and efficient manner. Software engineers are trained in all aspects of the software life cycle, from specific through analysis and design to testing maintenance and evaluation of the product. Software Engineers are concerned with safety and reliability of the product as well as cost and schedule of the development process.

Unique Features

The Software Engineering program teaches students the application of engineering concepts, techniques, and methods for the design, development, deployment and maintenance of software systems. Our graduates are qualified professionals involved in the technical work of designing, documenting, coding and testing large software products. They are also responsible for tasks such as directing projects, managing teams, and estimating costs resources, assessing business plans, reviewing proposals and suggesting innovations. The program focuses on imparting the knowledge and training, which enables students to harmonize theory with practice, concept with application and problem with solution. It prepares them to apply ably engineering principles, practices and processes to design, develop, deploy and maintain software systems. The program leads to development of students' professional and interpersonal skills.

Important Courses

With software permeating virtually all aspects of our work in our society, a Software Engineering graduate has the option to work in many different sectors such as software industry, telecommunications, finance, health care, manufacturing, retailing, security, transport, etc. other engineering areas like aeronautical, automotive, building, electrical, etc. also have increasing needs for software engineering. The entertainment industry with video games and movie animation too has a large demand for Software Engineering. In addition, the SE program develops a strong background for pursuing higher education and research. Graduate from our programs are studying and doing research at some of the best universities and institutes around the world including Stanford University (USA), California Institute of Technology (CALTECH – USA), CERN (Geneva), University of North Carolina (UNCC-Charlotte –USA), University of Reading (UK), Kyung-Hee University (South Korea), University of South Brittany (France) and University of West England (UK).

Outcomes of the Program

Software Engineering, Object Oriented Programming, Data Structures, Digital Logic Design, Database Systems, Operating Systems Concepts and Design, Computer Networks, Computer Organization and Assembly Language, Software Construction, Software Design and Architecture, Software Quality Engineering, Software Project Management.
